Sexuality Leadership Development Fellowship

The Africa Regional Sexuality Resource Centre (ARSRC) announces the eleventh edition of its annual Sexuality Leadership Development Fellowship (SLDF) Programme. The two-week course is scheduled to take place in Lagos, Nigeria from July 10th -23rd, 2016.

About The Fellowship

The Sexuality Leadership Development Fellowship (SLDF) addresses contemporary issues and emerging best practice in policy and programming for sexual wellbeing. The fellowship is designed to:

- Provide exposure to cutting-edge conceptual, theoretical and programming issues in sexuality, sexual health and sexual rights;
- Create a better understanding of the interaction between sexuality, development and social justice; and

- Facilitate the development of leadership, teamwork, public speaking and advocacy skills to advance sexual wellbeing within communities.

Faculty and Training Methodology

The faculty for the fellowship is composed of a multi-disciplinary team of experts in the field of sexuality, community leadership, advocacy and public health. The training approach incorporates a variety of participatory training methods that enable participants to acquire hands-on skills to start making a difference in their programmes and organizations. The sessions are structured to promote the sharing of ideas, team building and collaborative work amongst participants with the goal of nurturing relationships that last beyond the fellowship period.

Audience

This course is designed for young professionals in public service, civil society activists, programme officers/ managers in health and social development organizations including media practitioners. Applicants should be aged 35 years or below. Minimum educational qualification required is a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent and demonstrable experience/interest in the area of sexuality, sexual health and rights.

Course Fee and Other Costs

The course fee for the two-week programme is US$2,500. This subsidized fee covers registration, tuition and accommodation costs, resource materials package and group lunch on training days. The fee does not cover roundtrip travel to Lagos, visa fees and other meals or incidental expenses.
